Welcome to Intermec's third quarter 2008 earnings call. All lines are in listen only throughout the duration of today's conference call until the question-and-answer session. Today's conference call is also being recorded. If anyone has any objections you may disconnect at this time. Now I will turn the call over to your first speaker for today, Mr. Kevin McCarty, Director of Investor Relations.

Kevin McCarty

Welcome to Intermec's fourth quarter fiscal year 2008 earnings release conference call. With me on the call today is Intermec's President and Chief Executive Officer, Patrick Byrne; Chief Financial Officer, Bob Driessnack; and joining us on the phone is Mike Wills, our Senior Vice President of Global Sales and Service.

In a moment Pat will discuss our key trends and highlights, Bob will provide a summary of our operating performance and guidance and then subsequent to those discussions we will begin our question-and-answer period. Now let me quickly cover our Safe Harbor statement.

Today's discussions may include predictions, estimates or other information that might be considered forward-looking under the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Some of the statements we make today may be considered forward-looking including but not limited to Intermec's expected financial performance as well as Intermec's strategic and operational plans along with additional examples that are set forth in today's earnings release.

These statements involve a number of risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially. Please note that these forward-looking statements reflect our opinions only as of the date of this presentation and we undertake no obligation to revise or publicly release the results of any revision of these forward-looking statements.

For a more detailed description of the risk factors that may affect our results please refer to our SEC filings including our annual report on Form 10-K and our quarterly reports on Form 10-Q. Copies can be obtained by visiting the SEC or by visiting the Investor Relations section of our website.
